

Mali solar container communication station inverter not approved

Overview

Are undocumented communication devices in Chinese solar inverters a risk?

Following the discovery of unknown communication devices in Chinese solar inverters, US energy authorities want to reassess their risk. During the investigation of inverters from China by experts in the USA, undocumented communication devices were found in some devices.

Are Chinese solar power inverters connected to critical infrastructure grids?

U.S. energy officials have launched an investigation after discovering unauthorized communication equipment embedded within Chinese-manufactured solar power inverters connected to critical infrastructure grids across the country.

Are 'rogue' communication devices hidden inside solar power inverters?

In a discovery that has sent shockwaves through the cybersecurity community, U.S. energy officials have found undocumented "rogue" communication devices hidden inside solar power inverters imported from China.

Do solar inverters contain undocumented cellular radio devices?

These inverters, which are essential components that convert direct current from solar panels into alternating current usable by the electrical grid, were found to contain undocumented cellular radio devices not disclosed in product specifications or technical documentation.
