What is the Wellington Battery energy storage system (BESS)?

The Wellington Battery Energy Storage System (BESS) is planned to be developed in the central west New South Wales (NSW), Australia. The project will comprise a grid-scale BESS with a total discharge capacity of around 400MW. AMPYR Australia, a renewable energy assets developer in the country, owns 100% of the BESS project.

What is the Wellington Bess project?

“The Wellington BESS will contribute towards supporting Australia’s journey towards a more sustainable and reliable energy future,” said RJE Global in a statement. The project sits within the Dubbo Regional Council LGA and is part of broader efforts to boost storage infrastructure as renewable penetration increases across the NEM.

Will Wellington Bess be the largest battery storage project in NSW?

Once operational, it will have a capacity of 1,000-megawatt hours (MWh) of green power. This will make Wellington BESS one of the largest battery storage projects in NSW. Wellington is being constructed at 6773 and 6909 Goolma Road, Wuuluman NSW 2820.

What is the Wellington Bess?

The first phase of the Wellington BESS has received planning and grid approvals and is in the final stages of procurement and financing. As one of the largest BESS in the region, the Wellington BESS will contribute to improved grid reliability, enable more renewable energy generation, and lower energy costs for consumers in New South Wales.
